Background

Principal authorities are required to divide every constituency situated within their area into polling districts for the purposes of UK Parliamentary elections, to designate a polling place for each polling district, and to keep these under review.

A review must be carried out and completed within the period of 16 months beginning with 1 October 2013 and subsequently every five years. The latest review period commenced on 1 October 2018 and required completion by 31 January 2020. The next is currently scheduled to begin on 2 October 2023 and requires completion by 31 January 2025.

UK parliamentary constituencies review

The Boundary Commission for England recently undertook a review of parliamentary constituency boundaries. They have published their final recommendations, and Orders for the new parliamentary constituency boundaries will be made by the end of 2023.

Once the Orders for new parliamentary constituencies have been made, the new boundaries will be used for the next general election. If a parliamentary by-election is called in the meantime, it would be run on existing boundaries.

These issues mean it is important the polling district and places review is carried out as early as possible, so that Elmbridge Borough Council has agreed polling districts and polling places to be used for the next parliamentary election as well as the scheduled local elections and Police and Crime Commissioner elections in May 2024 and has a polling scheme in place which reflects the new constituencies.

Definitions

Parliamentary constituency

The area designated by the Boundary Commission has separate representation in the House of Commons. This cannot be changed by the review. The division of the constituency into polling districts and polling places is the subject of the review.

Polling districts

The geographical area is a sub-division of a constituency, ward or division into smaller parts within which a polling place can be determined, which is within easy reach of all electors from across the polling district.

Polling places

The building or area in which polling stations will be selected by the Acting Returning Officer.

Polling station

The actual room or area where voting takes place. This must be located within the polling place and designated for that particular polling district. This function is the responsibility of the Acting Returning Officer.

Timetable

The Council is required to publish notice of the holding of a review.

This has been carried out by way of a public notice posted at the Civic Centre, Esher, on council noticeboards and on the Council's website.

The timetable for the review is set out below:

Date
20 October 2023	Formal notice of review
20 October 2023	Commencement of public consultation period
By 24 November 2023	Publication of (Acting) Returning Officer's comments
24 November 2023	End of public consultation period
27 November to 8 December 2023	Consideration of all representations
11 to 21 December 2023	Final proposals agreed by the Chief Executive (Proper Officer)
22 December 2023	Review concluded
2 January 2024	Publish revised Register of Electors

Criteria for polling places and polling districts

There are a number of factors to take into account when considering polling districts and polling places. Guidance from the Electoral Commission lists the following key considerations

Polling district boundaries

- Boundaries: Are they well defined? For example, do they follow the natural boundaries of an area? If not, is it clear which properties belong in the polling district?
- Location: Are there suitable transport links within the polling district, and how do they relate to the areas of the district that are most highly populated? Are there any obstacles to voters crossing the current polling district and reaching the polling place e.g., steep hills, impassable main roads, railway lines, rivers?

Polling places

- The location: Is it reasonably accessible within the polling district? Does it avoid barriers for the voter such as steep hills, major road, rivers etc.? Are there any convenient transport links?
- Size: Can it accommodate more than one polling station if required? If multiple polling stations are required, is the polling place ample enough to accommodate all voters going into and out of the polling stations, even where there is a high turnout?
- Suitability: Is the building readily available in the event of any unscheduled elections? Is there any possibility that the building may be demolished as part of a new development? Is the building accessible to all those entitled to attend the polling place? The Electoral Commission also supplies a number of templates to use to assess the suitability of polling place facilities.

The Electoral Commission further advises that location, size and layout of any polling place/station must be a key consideration when deciding on the number of electors to be allocated to a polling station. In conducting this review, it is proposed that, as far as possible, no more than 2,250 voters should be assigned to each polling station for elections and referenda, to ensure efficiency. In the event of a combined and/or Parliamentary Election, given more complex arrangements and higher voter turnout, it is proposed that these levels will be reduced.

Consideration has also been given to the increased possibility of confusion and delays occurring where polling stations for more than one ward are allocated in the same building. It is therefore, suggested that, as far as is reasonably practical, polling stations for different wards should not be located in the same polling place.

Inevitably there will be an element of compromise between the different factors involved in reviewing polling places and polling district boundaries, and indeed the Electoral Commission acknowledges this as follows: “In practice, however, the choice of polling places will often be a balance between the quality of a building (access, facilities etc.) and the proximity of the building to the electors. When making a decision, all factors will need to be considered and the authority will need to be able to demonstrate their reasoning behind their decision”.

Where, because of local circumstances a polling place has been selected that is not fully accessible, then reasonable adjustments must be undertaken to provide access for all electors.

The review process

The role of the Acting Returning Officer

The Acting Returning Officer for Elmbridge Borough Council must make representations which must include information as to the location of polling stations (existing or proposed) within the polling places (existing or proposed).

The Council is also required to consult the Acting Returning Officer for every Parliamentary Constituency that is wholly or partly within its area. This means the Acting Returning Officer for the Runnymede and Weybridge Constituency must be consulted on the proposals.

Accessibility requirements

In reviewing polling districts and polling places, the Council is required actively to seek representations from such persons as it thinks have particular expertise in relation to:

Access to premises; or
Facilities for persons who have different forms of disability.

Such persons must be given the opportunity to make representations and to comment on the representations made by the Acting Returning Officer.

Summary of consultees

- Members of Elmbridge Borough Council
- Members of Claygate Parish Council
- Local members of Surrey County Council
- Members of Parliament for Esher & Walton and Runnymede & Weybridge Parliamentary Constituencies
- Police and Crime Commissioner for Surrey
- Acting Returning Officer for Runnymede & Weybridge Parliamentary Constituency
- Claygate Parish Council Clerk
- Representatives of political parties in the Elmbridge area
- Surrey Disabled Peoples Partnership, Surrey Coalition of Disabled People, Surrey Choices, Local Valuing People Groups – Mid Surrey, Walton Blind Society, Sight for Surrey, Elmbridge Mencap
- Head of Community Support Services

In addition, any elector in the constituency may make representations on the designation of polling places to the Council and this may include proposals for specified alternative polling places.

Completion of the review

On completion of a review, the Council is required to give reasons for its decisions in respect of the designation of both polling districts and polling places.

In addition, the Council must publish:

- all correspondence sent to the Acting Returning Officer in connection with the review;
- all correspondence sent to any person who the Council thinks has particular expertise in relation to access to premises or facilities for persons who have different forms of disability;
- all representations made by any person in connection with the review;
- the minutes of any meetings held by the council where details of the review have been considered;
- details of the actual designations of polling districts and polling places agreed as a result of the review; and
- details of where the results of the review have been published.

Challenge of review

Although the Electoral Commission has no initial role in the review process itself, it does have an important role in respect of considering representations and observations made that a Council has not conducted a review so as to:

- meet the reasonable requirements of the electors in the constituency, or a body of them (i.e the reasonable requirements of a particular area of the authority have not been satisfactorily met); or
- take sufficient account of the accessibility to disabled persons of polling stations within a designated polling place.

Who may make a representation to the Electoral Commission?

Section 18D (1) of the Representation of the People Act 1983, sets out who may make representations to the Electoral Commission namely;

- not less than thirty registered electors in the constituency
- any person who made representations to the Council when the review was being undertaken (except the Returning Officer)
- any person who is not an elector within the constituency who the Electoral Commission feels has sufficient interest in the accessibility of disabled persons;
- In England, any parish council which is wholly or partly situated within the constituency (or parish meeting where there is no council).

Also the Acting Returning Officer may make observations on any representations made to the Commission.

Review by the Electoral Commission

The Electoral Commission is required to consider any such representations and observations and may direct the relevant council to make any alterations it sees necessary to the polling places designated by the review.

Should a Council fail to make the alterations within two months of the direction being given, the Commission may make the alterations itself.

Proposal

The publication of the consultation document contains details of current polling district and polling places for each of the 16 Wards within the Borough of Elmbridge, along with the details of any proposed changes.

This document will be supplied to Members of the Borough Council and County Councillors, political parties and to persons who have particular expertise in relation to access to premises or facilities for persons who have different forms of disability.

This document will also be posted on the Council's website

<https://www.elmbridge.gov.uk/news/2023/have-your-say-polling-places-and-polling-districts-elmbridge>

Although Hersham Library is not within the boundaries of Polling District AC it is considered the most suitably located and available polling place for electors.

The polling districts in this ward are considered appropriate and there are no recommendations for change.

The polling place for polling district AA is currently Esher Theatre, Community Walk. Since the change of use from a village hall to a theatre, the polling place now has windows with black curtains and limited lighting. Therefore, the recommendation is to change from Esher Theatre to Esher Library, Old Church Path which meets all the criteria set out by The Electoral Commission.
